

MISSISSIPPI STATE UNIVERSITY™
MERIDIAN

MARROON Elite

2021-2022
AMBASSADOR
MANUAL

Introduction

Welcome to MSU Meridian's Maroon Elite! As a member, you are now a part of a very special group that plays an important student leadership role on both the College Park and Riley Campus. The Maroon Elite was established to assist in the promotion of MSU Meridian by providing service to various campus departments, first-hand information to prospective students, details about the admission process, academic offerings, and much more. By assisting with campus events, college fairs, and other special events, you will become a vital link between potential students and the pulse of the MSU Meridian student body.

This manual has been designed to provide you with the information you will need to do your job as a Maroon Elite member. In the following pages, you will learn how to serve as an informed representative of MSU Meridian. Thank you for your dedication!

Ambassador Goals

- To assist in converting large numbers of prospective students to applicants and ultimately enrolled students.
- To increase personal contact with prospective students through various communication methods.
- To represent MSU Meridian at college fairs and community college visits throughout the year.
- To promote the Maroon Elite to current MSU Meridian students through a yearly membership drive and other events.

Admission/Recruitment

Objective: Communicate directly with prospective students and their families and answer their questions through telecounseling, correspondence, etc. Actively participate in on-campus and off-campus recruiting programs. Welcome prospective students and other guests during campus events, as designated by the Maroon Elite advisor. Visit community colleges and attend outreach events.

Procedure: The advisor will announce upcoming events at regular Maroon Elite meetings. Members sign up with the Program Chairperson at meetings to attend programs or to select time slots for mandatory events.

Tele counseling sessions ("Bulldog Calls") will be held throughout the semester for approximately 1-2 hours. The advisor will be present in case any difficult questions or situations arise.

Campus Tours

Objective: An exciting responsibility of Maroon Elite members is directing campus tours to potential students and their parents/guests. Research has shown that the campus visit is the most influential factor in the college decision process and therefore a crucial part of our recruitment of our recruitment effort. A well-informed Maroon Elite ambassador leading a campus tour can provide valuable insight and information that could increase the likelihood that a student will enroll at MSU- Meridian.

Procedure: Tour times will be sent to your student emails when scheduled. You can also check the bulletin board during your weekly office hour for recently scheduled tours and sign up for them as your schedule permits. Members are encouraged to sign up for at least one tour per month. Campus tours begin from the Advisement and Career Services Center. If a tour is scheduled to take place during your weekly office hour, the tour will take precedence over other work to be done in the office.

College Fairs/Community College Visits

During the school year, particularly in the spring, community/junior colleges host college fairs for their students. Representatives from four-year/senior colleges are invited to speak to the students about admission requirements and degrees offered. In the fall, high schools hold similar programs. Some take place during the day, but many are held in the evening, which allows us to speak to parents as well as the high school seniors who may be considering going to a community college and staying in the Meridian/East Central Mississippi Area.

College Fairs/Transfer Days

The community college fairs that MSU-Meridian participates in are typically the "browse" format. Usually in a gym or a large room, tables are set up at which the representatives from each college are stationed. The students (and their parents at evening programs) are allowed to walk around and stop at the tables to talk to and ask questions of the representatives from the various colleges. Literature and visual aids about the colleges are displayed on the tables at each representative's station. When the student visits the table, he/she fills out a "Prospective Student Information Card" (a sample is included in your binder).

Community/Junior College Visits

Typically, the Advising Center advisor schedules one visit during each regular semester to each of the Partnership Pathway community colleges:

- East Central Community College, Decatur, MS
- Meridian Community College, Meridian, MS
- Jones County Junior College, Ellisville, MS
- East Mississippi Community College, Scooba, MS

Occasionally, a presentation visit will be scheduled in order to address more students and present information about MSU-Meridian more efficiently. During presentation visits, Maroon Elite ambassadors can contribute to answering questions about being a student at MSU-Meridian. Presentations have been done to organizations such as the Future Teachers, Student Education Association, and Phi Theta Kappa, as well as during a regular class.

Guidelines for Visits and College Fairs

It is our goal to present a professional image to prospective students. We have the power to influence their perception not only of the Meridian campus, but also of Mississippi State University as a whole, so it is important to make sure that we leave them with the best possible impression.

Arrive on time!

If you are meeting the MSU Meridian staff member at the program, you may not be expected to be there for the beginning of the program or the entire duration, but please arrive at the time you signed up for.

Dos and Don'ts for College Fairs and Community College Visits

These are rules for all college representatives to follow, paid staff or volunteer.

DO:

- ✓ SMILE and look approachable
- ✓ Stand at all times (depends on the setting, but a good general rule)
- ✓ Stay alert and by your table: Visit with the students...not other recruiters
- ✓ Use eye contact to draw your audience
- ✓ Use the student's name in your conversation...this is always impressive
- ✓ Make each student/parent feel important
- ✓ Know your information/be honest (if you don't know the answer, refer the question to the MSU Meridian staff member or tell the student how to contact someone on campus)
- ✓ Be tactful and civil at all times...even if the student is not
- ✓ If the parent dominates the conversation: include the student by using his/her name and directing questions to them (but do not aggravate the parent)

- ✓ Dress appropriately
 - Maroon Elite shirt
 - Khaki shorts (appropriate length) or pants
 - Closed toe shoes

DO NOT:

- Leave early
- Rate schools
- Speak ill of other schools
- Recruit students away from other tables
- Guarantee financial aid/scholarships
- Eat or drink at the table

After the conclusion of the program, we pack materials, clean up any trash around the table, and thank counselor/coordinator for inviting us.

“Bulldog Calls”

Objective: Tele counseling sessions will be held to enhance communication with students in the following two categories:

- Interested Potential Students: The goal is to share your experiences as a student at MSU Meridian, answer questions and hopefully increase the potential student’s interest in attending.
- Applied Students: The goal is to encourage students who have applied for admission to submit missing application documents.
- Admitted Students: The goal is to congratulate the student on admission to the University and encourage them to schedule appointments for registration.

Supplies needed to make calls:

If you do not know the answer to a question do not feel bad. It is impossible to know everything about our campus/university because it is constantly growing and changing. Even enrollment Counselors who have been with MSU for several years find it difficult to keep up with every aspect of the university. Just be honest and tell the student that you do not know and do one of the following two things:

- Take clear and concise notes on the question or problem and contact the appropriate staff member as soon as possible. A staff member will follow-up from there.
- Provide the student with our toll free number and refer them to the appropriate staff member (use the telephone directory as needed).

When you are through making calls, return the list, forms, etc. to an Advising Center staff member.

Postcards

Objective: Writing to prospective students is another way of helping recruit students to MSU Meridian. When students receive personalized postcards from you offering to answer any questions that they might have or to give them your impressions of our campus, the special attention they are receiving is sure to make them give MSU Meridian extra consideration in their college search.

Procedure: A list of names and addresses will be provided to Maroon Elite ambassadors of prospective students (from their area or who have a similar major) to which postcards will be sent. During subsequent office hours, you may call students who received a postcard from you within two weeks of the date it was sent.
